The Editors' Message

The golden Mayflower atop the Piedmont College steeple is a symbol of the courage, patience, and faith our forefathers brought with them to frontier America. As time progressed, changes were made in the landscape as well as in the spiritual and physiological needs of the Pilgrim fathers. These changes were made in order to survive. Without them, all may have perished.

Piedmont College Administration, Students, and Faculty members view the Mayflower with high aspirations and recognize the ideals the Pilgrims posessed. However, we must look further than these ideals in order to continue as a college in the future. We must realize, just as every settler realized when they came to this vast land, that changes must be made as time goes on. Nothing can remain constant; sameness causes withering; withering brings on death. Adaption is a natural process of man. Without it, one may cease to exist.

This is why we selected the theme of Love, Friendship, and Trust for the 1972-73 Yonahian. With these three elements, people can begin to break down false barriers within themselves and work as one entity together instead of several working against each other. Possibly dissension, discrimination, unrest, and insincerity would disappear. We must work together — "United we stand, divided we fall."

ADMINISTRATION

The President's Message

Every new year is a season for writing a new record. Even as a Professional baseball pitcher writes a revised career history with every pitch, students and faculty write their up-to-date collegiate history with every term paper, every social event, and every work-aid experience. Each day offers a fresh page of life, and by the grace of God, our personal efforts to learn and achieve are multiplied by Divine Growing Power. Steadily we accelerate our disciplined abilities to produce more satisfying results during the course of a year.

As I think over the events of the 1972-73 academic year, I am happily impressed by the feeling on the part of students and faculty that this has been a good year. A variety of students and faculty have shared experiences with me that led me to feel that we shall be hearing from them in the near future as youthful leaders in education, business, social services, medicine, community services, and church leadership. Only an ounce of imagination is required to prophesy that they will be constructive and desirable citizens wherever they live.

I am deeply grateful to the faculty members and staff who have tackled the job of another Self-Study with craftsmanship, good will, and indefatigable determination to succeed again in meeting and exceeding the standards of accreditation. Likewise, I am profoundly grateful for the spirit of cooperation among the officers of the Student Government who are doing their part to help their Alma Mater in strengthening and carrying forward the standards of excellence.

My reflections of the year are summarized for me in the encouraging and inspiring words of the Apostle Paul, who wrote to the Philippians (4:8) "In conclusion my brother, fill your minds with those things that are good and deserve praise: things that are true, noble, pure, lovely, and honorable."

BASKETBALL

This has been a year that my faith in American Youth has been revitalized.

I have had the privilege of associating with as courageous, tenacious, and determined group of young men as I have observed in 30 years of coaching.

When the phrase "It isn't whether you win or lose, but how you play the game" was coined, the basketball team of 1972-1973 could have been the inspiration.

"Now that the 1972-1973 season is drawing to a close, I would like to take this opportunity to thank Coach Cave and the Lions for a most interesting season. We haven't won any games in the past two seasons. Because of this, we hold the all time NCAA College record for losing games.

I agree with Coach Cave that the record is not something we should be ashamed of or embarrassed about. Out ballplayers gave 100 percent in all the games they've played. The Lions have two more games left this year and with some luck we might win one of them.

I'm sure I speak for all of the faculty and students at Piedmont College when I say thank you for giving 100 percent while representing all of us from Piedmont College."

Where the Rainbow Ends — by Richard Rive

Where the Rainbow ends
There's going to be a place brother,
Where the world can sing all sorts of songs.
And we're going to sing together, brother,
You and I,
Though you're white and I'm not,
It's going to be a sad song, brother,
Because we don't know the tune,
And it's a difficult tune to learn,
But we can learn, brother, you and I.
There's no such tune as a black tune
There's no such tune as a white tune
There's only music, brother, and it's music we're going to sing
Where the Rainbow ends.

As long as you've got to travel

Don't you want someone to help you carry your load?

—Carole King

Know you've got to run
Know you've got to hide
Don't know who to follow
Who is on your side.
Don't know where you're going,
Don't know where you been
And I may see you tomorrow or never more again . . .

-Stephen Stills
